NOTES ON PLAY

- Many of the questions are open to interpretation...and there are NO right or wrong answers. Just write neatly!
- Players will collectively decide how much time they spend writing answers and guessing "who said what".
- If for some reason you don't like the question you're supposed to read OR you have already played the question from a previous game night, simply pick any other question on the card. We're fine with it! Just make sure you only double points for the round if the spinner landed on the starred "Double Pleasure" space or the original question had a star next to it.
- Do not write on the back of your answer sheet. (Players will know that it's your answer sheet.)
- You can print new answer sheets from the Loaded Questions[®] Adult page at AllThingsEqual.Games, where you can also (a) discover all of our creative / humor-based games, (b) get a better sense of who makes this game, and (c) send us questions and/or super positive feedback.

OBJECT

Be the player with the most points after 3-4 full rounds of play (depending on the # of players). Points are scored by (a) matching players' answers correctly on your turn and (b) writing the favorite answer on everyone else's turn.

CONTENTS

"The Questionator" Spinner Board, Answer/Score Pad, Six Pencils, and 50 Playing Cards featuring 250 adult Loaded Questions[®] organized in these five fun categories:

SET-UP

1. Shuffle the cards and place them facedown in the middle of the play area.
2. All players take an answer sheet and pencil and write their name (or nickname) at the top of their answer sheet.
3. The shortest player takes The Questionator and flicks the spinner to start the game. Play moves clockwise.

ON YOUR TURN

1. Flick the spinner, pick the top card, and read aloud the corresponding question.

- If the spinner lands on the starred space, you can pick any question you want and points are doubled.
- If the spinner lands on a color and the corresponding question has a star next to it, points are doubled.

What one thing in the room would you not want to lick? ★

(For example, if the spinner lands on a red space read aloud the red question.)

2. All other players (not you) secretly write their personal answer to the question on their answer sheet. Write neatly!

(There are no right or wrong answers, but players are encouraged to get creative with their answers!)

3. All answers are collected, shuffled, and read aloud by the player to your right. (You will not see the handwriting, because the player to your right is reading the answers aloud.) After hearing ALL of the answers, you must FIRST pick your favorite answer and THEN guess which player wrote which answer.

My favorite answer is Joe's butt, and I think Coco wrote that. I think Lil P said steak knife. Dude said a cucumber. And Joe said my dirty underwear.

(Say your favorite answer and attempt to match EVERY answer BEFORE learning "who said what".)

- It helps to hear the question again before answers are read aloud.
- The reader should review and shuffle the answers before reading them aloud.

- Players should be discreet when answers are read aloud, when you are selecting your favorite answer, and when you are guessing "who said what".
- Whether you like an answer because it was hilarious, honest, creative or ridiculous, it is up to you in deciding your "favorite".

4. The player to your right reveals which player wrote which answer and points are scored as follows:

- You get one point for every correctly matched answer. Mark your point total in the square box at the bottom of your answer sheet for the round in play. (A round is defined as every player having one turn guessing "who said what".) If points are doubled for the turn, make sure you double your score.
- The player who wrote your favorite answer fills in one bubble at the bottom of their answer sheet. If points are doubled on the turn, they fill in two bubbles. Every filled-in bubble equals two points.

Write the # of matches on your turn per round (★ = double points)				TOTAL

Favorite answer = 1 bubble (or 2 bubbles if the turn is doubled)

(The player above has a total of 23 points- 9 points earned on their three turns + 14 points for writing favorite answers. Every bubble = 2 points.)

Used cards should be moved away from the play area. Play moves clockwise, so the player to your left will flick the spinner on The Questionator to start a new turn.

HOW TO WIN

The player with the most points after 3-4 full rounds of play (depending on the # of players) wins the game. We recommend playing four full rounds in a 4-player game and three full rounds in a 5-6 player game...but you can decide if you want a shorter or longer game. If there is a tie, continue playing until one of the tied players has more points than the other tied player(s).
